DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed 2/08/08 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to applicant's argument that there is no suggestion to combine the references, the examiner recognizes that obviousness can only be established by combining or modifying the teachings of the prior art to produce the claimed invention where there is some teaching, suggestion, or motivation to do so found either in the references themselves or in the knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Fine, 837 F.2d 1071, 5 USPQ2d 1596 (Fed. Cir. 1988) and In re Jones, 958 F.2d 347, 21 USPQ2d 1941 (Fed. Cir. 1992).

In this case, the Harvey reference discloses in Fig.2 a charging device 90 wherein disposed on the charger consists of an LED emitting device. The emitting device changes is transmitted through the portion 96 and illuminating 98 LED. Harvey continues to disclose "It is appreciated that the illumination of may flash with a period, change color, change intensity, or otherwise change in a manner indicative of charge status of the device D." Col.5 line 35-38.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 2618

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tanishita (US 6,221,526) in view of Harvey (US 6,753,671).

With respect to claim 1, Tanishita discloses the connector for charging mobile phone comprising a connecting terminal formed to protrude from a body for coupling to or separating or from a mobile phone by a projection 4b in a groove 6a, the projection 4b formed, as one body, with an adjustment portion 58 disclosed within the prior art in Fig.5 adjustable by an user, and upper and lower covers coupled by a bolt through a bolt inserting groove, however Tanishita does not specifically disclose wherein said connector comprises a light emitting element disposed on a printed circuit board that electrically connects to the mobile phone by a pin, the light emitting element changing its color from yellow, red and green in order according to an amount of a charging voltage so that the user can acknowledge the state of charging.

The Harvey reference however discloses wherein an LED 98 in Fig.2 provides information to the user by a multi-color LED in which the color of the light can change based on charge status on the connector terminus 50. Col.5 line 24-44

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to implement the multicolor LED light indicator on a charger as disclosed by Harvey with the charger structure disclosed by Tanishita in order to visually inform the user what the status of the battery on the cellular phone is currently on.

With respect to claim 2, Tanishita and Harvey combined disclose the connector for charging the mobile phone in accordance with claim 1, Tanishita continues to disclose wherein said light emitting element 120 is disposed on the print circuit board by the pin for electrically connecting to the mobile phone 108.

With respect to claim 3, Tanishita and Harvey combined disclose the connector for charging the mobile phone in accordance with claim 1, Harvey continues to disclose wherein said upper cover forms a hole for securing a window 96 by ultrasonic or thermal fusion. Since the LED is visible to the user through a charging housing 50, it is understood there is a hole there. Col.5 line 24-44

Conclusion

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
